BAYOU TRAGEDY TAKES DOUBLE TOLL FROM E. VAN WHITFIELD FAMILY WHEN TWO ARE DROWNED

Horace Whitfield, 29, Vainly Attempts to Save Son, Jack, 8, in Bayou Waters Over at Henderson Point Wednesday Afternoon Late—Double Funeral From Parent's Home Thursday Afternoon.

Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 4:30 and 5 o'clock, Horace Whitfield, son of former Sheriff and Tax-Collector E. Van Whitfield and his deceased wife, and Jack Whitfield, father and son, met tragic death when both were drowned in the well-known bayou over at Henderson Point, opposite the city of Bay St. Louis.

Horace Whitfield resided north of the O. S. T. auto bridge with his family at the Point. He assisted his father in Bay St. Louis operating a dairy business and traveled to and fro. His father had just carried him across the bridge and back home a short time previously and he had hardly been with his family when he planned to go across the bridge over to a neighbor's house and repair a broken screen.

He was followed by two of his sons. It appears, the younger of the two, Jack, stumbled and fell over into the waters of the bayou, which formerly had been dredged. Subsequent speculations make it appear the little fellow fell into the deep holes left by the dredging operations. His father was quick to see what had happened and jumped over to save him. However, he, too, soon became a victim of the distressed situation.

Andrew Pouyadon, who was casting for bait at the time, from a boat in the waters of the bayou, saw the father go over and soon came upon the scene and threw his heavy cast-net into the waters hoping to get the body, however, he did not get the one he was fishing for but instead that of the boy, which was brought up and immediately others gathered and soon the body of the father was recovered.

Both bodies were still warm and every known method, from first aid to the professional use of the pulmotor, (subscribed for and lately purchased through the instrumentality of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce), was brought into play, but to no avail.

But those engaged in the effort at resuscitation did not propose to give up. Both bodies, pronounced dead by Dr. J. C. Buckley and Dr. D. H. Ward, and turned over to the undertakers, the work in attempt to revive both continued while being transferred across the bridge in the hearse.

Reaching Bay St. Louis the bodies were taken to the King's Daughters hospital, where further attempts to revive continued, until finally all hopes were abandoned and the bodies embalmed and prepared for burial. From the Fahey Undertaking Home in Union street, they were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Whitfield, in Necaise avenue, where they reached about 11 o'clock, and were exposed to the view of the hundreds of people that formed a stream of friends and acquaintances that continued to flow in all during the night.

It was a most pathetic sight, needless to say, and the many who had come to offer whatever assistance possible to sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield and family and with the widow and her children as well.

The Funeral

Both funerals took place Thursday afternoon as one, from the residence of Mr. Whitfield, Sr.

Rev. C. C. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated at the ceremony of the young father, and Rev. Father Fahey, of Bay St. Louis, officiated at the ceremony for the son, who had died in the Catholic faith. Both caskets were placed in the same hearse and taken to Cedar Rest cemetery, where they were laid away within the keeping of mother earth, the last resting place marked with a high and wide bank of flowers.

The funeral was one of the largest seen here, noted as 'The Echo' went to press.

Neurological

Horace Whitfield was a son of E. Van Whitfield, originally of Flat Top and of Mrs. Angeline Moran Whitfield, of Kila, this county, and born at Flat Top October 27, 1903, and would have been thirty years old this coming October.

He was the first of a family of three surviving children—the others

Mrs. Louva Whitfield Dodge, wife of M. J. Dodge, of Biloxi; Rufus Whitfield of Creole, Miss., and G. Y. Whitfield of Biloxi.

He is also survived by his wife, who, before her marriage was Mrs. Marie Redding, of Bay St. Louis, but originally of Hazlehurst, Georgia, and three boys and one girl.

Jack Whitfield.

Jack Whitfield was born in Bay St. Louis May 9, 1924, and only last Monday had celebrated his 8th birthday. He was the second boy of the family and attended the local city schools and was a bright pupil.

Horace Whitfield, who gave his life in the hope that another may live and no man hath greater love, spent the major portion of his life in Bay St. Louis, coming when quite a child, and was widely and favorably known. He attended the local schools and later studied the trade of electrician and conducted such business for quite a while. Later he was connected with the Louisville & Nashville R. R. Company and since the forces of the railroad had been reduced he was associated with his father. Both were companionable and the loss of this son is well nigh an irreparable blow. There are times that try men's souls, it is said. Truly this must be an instance. Mr. Whitfield and his wife and family sustain their loss with marked Christian fortitude and the hope is expressed they may continue to bear their great sorrow with so much courage and sublime resignation.

Senator Pat Harrison In Bed With a Lame Leg Not Seriously Ill, Report

Intelligence from Washington is to the effect that Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is confined to his bed with a lame leg, which is better than being a "lame duck."

It appears he disobeyed orders of a physician (must have been a republican) last week after he had torn a ligament to go ahead as democratic leader on the finance committee in the completion of the all important revenue bill.

As a result, the Mississippian ended the week with a badly swollen leg. Doctors believe if he will remain in bed until Thursday, he will be able to resume his place in the senate for the approaching tax contest.

POPPY DAY SALE ON MAY 28

"In Flanders Fields the poppies blow, Between the crosses row on row—"

"Poppy Day" will be observed in Bay St. Louis and throughout the United States this year on May 28, the Saturday before Memorial Day.

Disabled veterans working on their hospital beds or at the tables in convalescent workrooms have made the poppies which the American Legion Auxiliary will sell and all of the money received will go to support the Auxiliary's vast program of mercy and aid those suffering from the war's awful aftermath.

Mrs. Laurent Dickson, president of the local unit, has announced a special committee who at present is completing an enrollment of volunteer workers for the Auxiliary's memorial poppy sale. Mrs. Douglas Bourgeois, chairman of this committee said today that she has received numerous requests from "friends of the cause," that they be allowed to assist in the sale of the poppies. She intends to use quite a bit of help other than Auxiliary members. All those selling the Legion and Auxiliary poppies will wear distinctive badges so the people of Bay St. Louis are asked to buy poppies only from those wearing the Auxiliary badge.

From year to year the veterans look forward to the little they will earn from the sale of their poppies and we know that Bay St. Louis will not fall down in their part of fulfilling their hopes.

COLLEGE MINSTRELS GO OVER BIG BEFORE APPRECIATIVE HOUSE

Stanislaus Students Give Performance and Observe Mother's Day.

Wednesday evening at St. Stanislaus College gym Stanislaus Minstrels gave a performance that also combined a Mother's Day program, and the large and appreciative audience was well repaid for attending.

The youthful performers gave every evidence of not only ability but of thorough training, each and every participant presenting his part true to the demands of the character portrayed.

Feature participants of the minstrels follow:

Interlocutor—John Hickman. Sambo—Sheldon Seuzeneau. Rastus—Anthony Toarmina. Bones—Richard Roth. Snow—William Ryland.

Solos by these young gentlemen added to the program:

Other numbers of the program follow:

"Look Who's Here"—Glee Club. "Little Girl"—Sung by Cecil Lapey-ronnie. "By The Sycamore Tree"—sung by Ross Kevlin. "When The Blue of the Blue of the night"—Sung by Jules Mottly. "You Try Somebody Else"—A. Toarmina. "Cuban Love Song"—Anthony Gar-chaud. "My Mothers Eyes"—Pete Juden. "When Its Sleepy Time Down South"—M. Payment. "At the Darktown Strutters Ball"—S. Seuzeneau. "When a Pal Bids A Pal Good-Rye"—Ziebler. "Home"—The "Inseparables." Closing Chorus—The Glee Club.

Not only are members of the city commission form of government given evidence of "balancing the budget" by voluntarily reducing their own salary from $225 to $200 per month, to take effect June 1, but the City School Board has resorted to the same expediency.

While the enrollment of Central School each year shows a marked increase, there will be two teachers less on the faculty for the 1932-33 session, and while there will be a decrease in teaching force there will be no cut in service or time.

On the contrary. There will be a decided increase in time devoted to public school music, with Mrs. Carl Smith, in charge at present, pursuing her work for another year.

However, there will be a reduction in primary pupils. Under new law the school age will no more be 5 years but 6 in future. This will keep out many who, it is best thought, too young to be in the school room and next year will not attempt to enroll.

Cut in Salaries.

In order to effectively and appreciably "balance the budget," there will be a cut in salaries, the proportions of which will be about:

Elementary grades, five per cent. High School grades, ten to fifteen per cent.

This will average a cut in salaries to all teachers about fifteen per cent, with two teachers less to pay.

The Echo not only publishes this as a news story but for the information it will carry to the taxpayers, who may look for a reduction from this score next year. And in addition, to complement the school board and others connected for their practical economy, cutting pay without crippling efficiency.

BEAUTIFYING THE WATER FRONT.

REPORTS from Pass Christian, recently referred to as the "show place" of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, is to the effect that the shores of Harrison county bordering on the Bay of St. Louis, opposite the City of Bay St. Louis, are to be converted into a park and extensive gardening and general beautification to be undertaken.

A public-spirited citizen, whose love and unselfish interest for the Coast is well known, announces these plans, and it might be well, even though if only in a limited measure, that we of this side of the Bay of St. Louis would turn a little more attention to the beautification of the beach. The cost in money is negligible—to keep one's premises at its best. The price is personal inclination and a love to do. Nothing else, nothing more.

An example worthy of following is thus set forth and in time it would seem the general scheme of beautification would result.

If we are fond of our living premises and home town as we profess, and certain we are, if we appreciate added value to our realty holdings then surely we will contribute our share to the general up-keep and beautification of the shore line, in addition to our front yards, and back yards as well.

ORGANIZED AND UNIFIED CITIZENS.

PERHAPS no city the size of Bay St. Louis, and let it be said to its credit, has as many organizations, societies, clubs, etc.

Every phase of moral and commercial and civic endeavor is covered with the unification of group of workers operating under the rules of their different and respective objectives.

There seems to be an organization here to fit every purpose and to meet every public and other requirement in order that Bay St. Louis may be a better place to live in.

No people of any community of any size may function satisfactorily and to the maximum result without organized effort and spirit of co-operation. Bay St. Louis fully possesses these elements that go to make for a better place to live in and to preserve those ideals which we strive for and as well to further any such aims.

We wish to emphasize this, to bring this to a fuller sense of realization and in turn urge that every order of the city receive from its members the fullest extent of support, financially as well as otherwise.

A REMINDER.

THE Graf Zeppelin is making regular trips between Germany and South America. Already four return journeys have been completed this Spring, and, as you read this, the airship has completed her fifth trip to South America.

The fact is that the success of this ship has been so great that only minor mention is made when the modern airship begins or ends one of its voyages.

The era of air travel has just commenced. Man will not be much longer, geologically speaking, on the ground.

Our idea of a sap spends his nights trying to win a big, national $25,000 prize, offered for something or other.

Just because some men sent their mothers a little bit of candy on Sunday they think they are paying her proper tribute.

Raymond, Miss., has been added to the growing list of communities in which local merchants have pledged themselves to end or reduce the acceptance of merchandise shipped to them by other means than railroad, according to the Illinois Central Magazine for May. Exceptions made by the Raymond merchants include gasoline and oil, food, soft drinks, candy, laundry and bread. Such pledges are usually given in exchange for the promise of home-town patronage by railway employees.

New Orleans Times-Picayune and other papers of the daily press carried a story a few days ago to the effect representatives in Congress carried the names of many of their kin and friends on the federal payrolls for which the government in return receives nothing. Because a public servant may say he requires the service of an additional secretarial or other clerical help, and actually does not use such help, is no reason why license should be taken to so place the names of such persons designate for imaginary positions on the payroll.

"The highways were not built for commercial traffic. The highways are maintained by the taxpayers and are for their use, just as the schools and courthouses are. If the courthouses were taken to do commercial business in, the government would soon stop it. But the government does not seem to see that the highways are just as important." So wrote Gertrude Carnes, a student in the Forrest County Agricultural High School, Brooklyn, Miss., in an essay which won first prize in a contest on railway and highway transportation sponsored by the Illinois Central Service Booster Club of Hattiesburg, Miss., according to the May issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. Second prize went to Angus Moody.

THE PLACE ONE LOVES BEST TO LIVE.

A GENTLEMAN residing in this city who travels periodically over the Southern territory, visiting various parts of flowery Florida, through the different sections of Louisiana with its bayous and moss-draped oaks and fine climate, and then again through the empire of Texas and over into Oklahoma, etc., on his arrival home a few days since expressed satisfaction at his return to Bay St. Louis and the Gulf Coast.

He said during his journeys time and again over the various and attractive spots of our Southland he felt that sense of appreciation of this section all the keener and one of his greatest pleasures experienced on the return home was that his appreciation of Bay St. Louis and vicinity was all the more.

In no phase a section compares to better advantage than here. Nature has truly lavished her wealth. A rare combination exists on the gulf coast. Health abounds in every prospect, drinking water, climate, salt air and gulf breezes, foliage of forest and beauty of natural flora, scenery, natural fishing waters, and in general a most delightful combination making for this section the fact that "in all the world no place like this."

The point we wish to bring out is to bring the message home to the reader who does not have the advantage of travel and opportunity of making such comparison. It is well to bring that sense of realization in order it may be enjoyed all the time. It is well to say, this is my home, there is no place like it; I know of no better place and nowhere would I rather live.

This well fits Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Gulf Coast in general.

Proper advertising, in the right place, is certain to be profitable. The trouble with too many advertisers is that they make no effort to understand how to use space, and then, because advertising doesn't produce quick results, they blame the wrong person.

THE BEER PARADE.

ORIGINATING in New York City at the suggestion of Mayor Walker, this coming Saturday has been set as the day for the staging of "beer parades" over the country, and preparations accordingly are being carried on for monster demonstrations, it is reported.

In New Orleans to the west that city will perhaps stage a demonstration the like of which will have little equal, if any, in a city of similar size. The little city to the east, Pass Christian, plans one in intention, at least, equally as big and thus the country in many parts will equal such demonstration that will surprise even the most ardent anti-prohibitionist.

However, while The Echo has already expressed its self on the failure of prohibition and the train of attendant evils resultant, it does not believe in this kind of tactics. We cannot endorse a public slap as this to the constitution, even though it is not thus intended.

We opine there is a far more reaching, effectual and more dignified way of getting at the problem. We are for a popular referendum. If our senators and congressmen vote to take it out of our hands, as they have, then let us vote men who will, in our opinion do the right thing. We favor the vote by the people if this is a government by the people for the people. Let the majority rule.

This Coxey army and other tactics smacks of tawdry, cheap stuff.

We can well understand the idea of the beer parades, to create sentiment and to attract attention, to register disapproval in united numbers. But nevertheless we cannot subscribe to this, as unpopular it might prove to say so. However, we wish them success in the ultimate. Noting the change of sentiment that is sweeping the country in no unmistakable terms, it cannot be but that in due time there will be some modification.

The victory of speaker Garner in California, giving him the forty-four delegates from that state, which, added to the forty-six to come from Texas, places him in the "runner-up" position, being topped only by Governor Roosevelt who is generally credited with about 400 delegates, approximately 170 less than a majority in the Convention.

"IT CAN'T BE DONE" REFUTED.

THERE is quite a lesson to be gained in a news story carried in the columns of The Sea Coast Echo last week to the effect that after fifty years or more the Bay St. Louis wreck of an old lighthouse vessel would be removed shortly by the government, regardless of the seemingly excessive cost.

This refutes in measure the cry of the failure, "it can't be done." It can be done is better because it is so.

Its sharp and high sides protruding from the peak of tide, the derelict in recent years became more of a menace when these sides gave way to the process of erosion and all evidence of the "lurking dangers beneath the water" were removed.

The government had "charted" this wreck and this was all that it was thought to be done. Recently an effort on the part of the local legion post took up the matter with proper authorities and after various investigation it appeared the effort was in vain. This derelict, it was pointed out, had been there for over a half century and it could stand there until the doom of day.

However, persistent and intelligent effort repeatedly applied has brought forth the desired results and refutes the too-often expression of "it can't be done."

This section offers many advantages and projects for development. But only too often suffer defeat because of the expression above quoted. Let the lesson be learned in future.

Every mail brings you a proposition in exchange for your money.

It won't be long now before you read of somebody rocking the boat.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 10.—With a splendid editorial and a touching poem by David Guyton, the Echo last week brought its readers reminders of approaching Mother's Day. Reverence for motherhood exists in all parts of the civilized world. But this nation leads in observing each year a special day dedicated entirely to our mothers. No other holiday has greater significance to the majority of America's men and women.

And every day is Mother's Day we learn from such items of news as the one in the Lake Shore locals telling of the visit Mrs. J. J. Yarborough paid Mrs. E. Casanova in New Orleans, the week preceding Mother's Day. Mothers rejoice in the company of their children whether or not the day has been set aside for sending greeting cards, presents and other tokens of remembrance.

How fine it was for William D. Hays to win the Chi Omega award and other honors at Ogletrope. And how wonderful it is for any boy or girl to be similarly honored. All attention is centered for the moment on the recipient of such recognition. But there's another heart that beats as proudly as that of the honored one himself, if indeed not more so. Does youth fully appreciate what exquisite joy it brings to motherhood when it distinguishes itself so grandly? The years to come may blast some of the hopes of the boys and girls of today, but mothers will ever think with a happy smile of the days which brought honors to their children.

Many are the mothers in the membership of the Baptist W. M. U. which is giving a shower for the benefit of the Jackson Orphanage. Gold mothers they are too, in every sense of the word. That's one of the big reasons why they are able to render such wonderful service to their church and their community. As their children gathered around their respective firesides Sunday, an onlooker would have had no trouble in determining what really fine mothers they are. That would have been revealed plainly, by the devotion of the children.

Special Mother's Day church services were scheduled in Bay St. Louis according to the announcements made by Rev. C. C. Clark and others, last week. This tribute of the churches is well deserved. In olden times the patriarchs were the guardians of religion, but for several generations past, that duty has been fulfilled largely by the mothers of the race. They have transmitted their faith to their children, they nurture its development until the children start out in the world for themselves. How well known is the picture of the child lisping its prayers at its mother's knee. How often the weary wanderer, halting in some lonely and forgotten spot, recall the prayers his mother taught him when he was the little child of the picture.

By calling phone 29, information can be secured regarding two refrigerators that are for sale, so the ad in the classified department informs the world. Naturally that information interests a city dweller who dreams of deserting the wolf pack and its tearing of flesh to join the great army now on its way to more peaceful spots. But to those already established in Bay St. Louis, the little advertisement is still more interesting. So those refrigerators will be sold in short order, if they have not already changed hands. The classified department of the Echo is a market place. It costs very little to avail yourself of its service. Those who use the classified ads know how quickly buyer and seller can be brought together. With a profit to both too, that's the best of it.

Mrs. Roger M. Boh has two reasons for appreciating the meaning of Mother's Day. They came with the birth of the sweet little twin girls which the Echo announced last week. When those little bundles of dainty loveliness, so warm and soft were placed in her arms, she pressed them close and upon tiny heads she planted her affectionate kisses. Yes, that was mother's day indeed.

Last Father felt something like a fifth wheel in a wagon last week, let us remind him that his day is not far distant. But he hardly needs that consolation, does he? Nothing perhaps that children can do for him will make him happier than their devotion to their mother. After all, there are few children who can ever do as much for their mothers as their fathers have already done.

MY GARDEN.

I have a little garden green,
As sweet as you have ever seen
And full of flowers, rich and rare,
With roses blooming everywhere.

I have another in my heart,
My pretty garden's counterpart;
And friends are there, like flowers,
Sweet,
As dear as you could wish to meet.

Now some of these are not so much
To alien eyes or alien touch;
But every single one of these
To me possesses charms that please.

Here in my garden is a rose,
No grander on this whole earth grows
My sainted mother set it there
And tended it with loving care.

Here in the garden of my heart,
God gave to me the counterpart,
A human rose with every grace
Of mind and soul and form and face.

A few sweet years, with fondest care
I tended her, and everywhere
I chanced to be by night and day
My rose kept blooming, glad and gay.

And then there came a chilling breath
The weeping neighbors called it
"death";
And now I linger by a tomb
Where broken-hearted roses bloom.

I cannot see my rose's face.
Her passing feet have left no trace.
Her subtle fragrance, too, has fled,
Alas, my human rose is dead.

And yet this heart within me knows
It still shall find its radiant rose.
It may be near, it may be far,
It may be in some shining star.

A million years may come and go;
But God will give her back, I know;
There is a garden where she waits,
And Love shall lead me through its gates.

Vote Early . . . And Often.

Chester Lindy and Arthur Sentore, young men about town in Chicago the past months, will spend the next six months in jail. The boys were found guilty of vote frauds in connection with the recent primary election.

In County Judge Jarecki's court, Lindy admitted voting ten times for State Attorney Swanson, candidate for re-nomination, and an equal number of times for Omer Custer, a candidate for governor.

Mr. Custer was defeated, but Mr. Swanson was successful on a platform calling for honest elections and relentless prosecution of gangsters.

Telephone Mrs. Green

"Mother says to hurry as it sounds like an important call."

"Tell her that I'll be over as soon as I can take the dinner out of the stove."

Do you use your neighbor's telephone? Think how much better it would be to have one of your own. Then you need not bother anyone, and your friends can call you without embarrassment.

The entire family will find many uses for the telephone, with the added comfort of knowing that in emergencies the telephone is always ready to summon aid.

You, too, can have a telephone of your own for only a few cents a day. In fact, the service is so low in cost that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

KOHLER PLACE IN BAY ST. LOUIS IS A THING OF JOY AND BEAUTY

Thousands of Easter Lillies Are Blooming in Front Yard
Premises, Despite Late Cold Snap—Heavy Shipments Made to Market in New Orleans.

Mississippi Gulf Coast successfully boasts of many beautiful gardens and growing blossom scenes practically all the year 'round and serve as winner of constant admiration.

However, few compares with the garden scenes these past two weeks of that of the Max Kohler home, North Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis, where Mr. and Mrs. Kohler, of New Orleans, spend their summer months, with their family, and frequently during the other parts of the year spend week-ends.

Their front yard, facing both sides of the entrance walk from street gate to porch steps is a point of the beach road where all passer-bys halt and view the thousands of Easter or Bermuda lillies blooming in their most bounteous aspect.

Perhaps there are more than thousands, for thousands have been shipped to New Orleans for the market and sell readily not only for the immaculate beauty of the lilly but for the beauty as well of the long stem. This variety is not of the short stem commonly noted, but of the kind mostly desired.

It will be noted that the white lilly is not blooming in many places this season, says an authority and one who observes this, and attributes the cause to the lateness of the last cold snap of the past season. "Our lillies were covered," says the man in charge of the Kohler gardens, "as we took no risk. The cold was not sufficient to kill the plants but since everything was about to bud at the time of the last cold, the buds froze. By protecting the lillies on the Kohler place the buds in their earliest stages did not freeze."

Other Bay St. Louis gardens along the Bay St. Louis coastal line carry annually the present scene at the Kohler place, but seemingly have done as well as in this particular instance.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohler are interested in their Bay St. Louis home. They have great affection for the entire premises, and while not trying to make it the show place of the community, they strive to ever make it a place of "joy and beauty," just as every home lover does.

Incidentally, it might be said which in a measure is unusual, the Kohler back yard is really the show place. In the entrance back, and facing Second street, here is a veritable park and formal garden, yet not so formal as to make it appear artificial, but with that touch of the rustic to make a setting of its own. Here are concrete walks, in terrace form, massive garden jars placed here and there and other garden equipment inexpensive but effective and reflecting the good taste and originality of the owners and those directly responsible, Mr. and Mrs. Kohler.

But let us return to the lillies. We have wandered off—to the back garden, when the setting might be used for scenes of a movie or romance of a story. The lillies by the thousands are comparatively short-lived. If the reader has failed to visit the Kohler place and intends so doing, go there today, no later than tomorrow, even though the peak of blooming might have been passed and thousands already shipped away, to help make other people happy.

No fuss. No mess. SUDS.

Appointment of Trustee for
Biloxi Buena Vista Hotel
Also Sought—Request
Suit Filed.

Foreclosure of a bond mortgage on the Buena Vista Hotel at Biloxi is requested in a suit filed in the Harrison County chancery court at Gulfport by a group of approximately 100 bond holders claiming to represent $245,000 of the $365,000 alleged unpaid bonds of a $425,000 issue in October, 1925. Styled J. V. Lamar and others against the Canal Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans and others, the complainants bring the bank in as defendant only to protect the interest of the bondholders, who claim they have entered into a "protective agreement," and deposited the bonds in that bank for collection.

In addition to the foreclosure, the complainants seek the appointment of trustee, claiming that the First National Bank of Biloxi, original trustee, has resigned and that no other qualified bank can be found in this vicinity willing to accept the trusteeship. The Buena Vista hotel was adjudged a bankrupt in the latter part of last year.

TAX-PAYERS' LEAGUE SENDS OUT LETTER FOR NEW MEMBERS

Meeting of Board of Directors to be Held on Monday Evening of Next Week.

The Board of Directors of the Hancock County Taxpayers' League met Monday night, May 9th in the courthouse.

The meeting was well attended and various matters of importance were discussed.

The following letter was mailed to every taxpayer in the county:

"We are writing you to join the Hancock County Taxpayers' League. You are a property owner and the cost of operating the State, county and municipal governments is paid by you in the form of taxes on your property. You must pay the taxes levied, or the State, county and city will sell your property. That is positive."

"It does not make any difference if your property is vacant, or if the tenant beats you out of the rent, or if you are out of work, you must pay the taxes and there is no ifs or ands about it."

"Now, what does every taxpayer do? He gets angry at the high cost of taxation—thinks it is an outrage and feels something should be done to have the rates reduced—then like all of us, he goes to the courthouse and city hall and pays the taxes, no matter what the rate may be. Then he forgets about taxation until the next year when they become due and then begin growling and grumbling again. But nothing is accomplished and he pays his taxes again."

"The Hancock County Taxpayers' League is formed for the purpose of knowing and encouraging economic efficient and a thoroughly business administration in our State, county and municipal governments."

"We must get relief from the high taxation and the only way we will get it is by seeing to it that the monies in the various funds are judiciously and efficiently expended throughout the year, and not wait until taxes are due and then raise a howl."

"To do this we need your co-operation and support. We need unity of purpose. We need organization."

"Join the Hancock County Taxpayers' League, the dues are only $1.00 a year. Sign the application on the bottom of this letter and mail with one dollar to our Treasurer, L. E. Kenney, 1010 North Front Street, Bay St. Louis, Miss."

"And remember this: The Hancock County Taxpayers' League is not a political organization, and don't let anybody tell you it is, for they are using this method to defeat our purpose. It is formed for the benefit of taxpayers only. Also no one in the organization receives any salary."

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held Monday night, May 23rd at the courthouse at 8 P. M.

Every taxpayer in the county is urged to join the league.

AT CANDLE-LIGHT

If God should come at candle-light
And say to me, "To-morrow night,
Your little life on earth shall end,"
I wonder how my heart would mend
Its program for that final day.
If words like these, the Lord should say?

I think that I should feel no fear,
I think the pathway would be clear.
I know that I should ask to see
The dearest friends of all to me.
Each debt I owed, I fain would pay
Before I journeyed far away.

Some simple words, I'd wish to pen
In gratitude to God and men
For what they both had meant to me.
Then, if I might, that final tea,
I'd like to take with her alone.
Who, day by day, had dearer grown.

And after we had broken bread,
Had kissed and sweet good-nights had said,
My day's work done, I'd like to lie
Upon my bed and bravely die,
Contented quite for God to keep
Both her and we when I should sleep.

STANISLAUS COLLEGE ECHOES

ROUTINE ATHLETICS PRACTICE.

During the past week routine athletics practices have been the only ones noticeable on the campus. And this fact gave some of the real Stanislaus "Sports" (not athletic ones) a chance to shine. We saw Breux for instance, last Sunday, all dressed up in his blue suit and looking like he was going to a tea-party. When interrogated as to the cause of his display of haberdashery "Cutie" Breux answered that he was "expecting someone." Also "Cutie" endeavored to propound an argument to some fellow-clubmates on the price of clothes, etc., and just as he waxed very enthusiastic and commenced moping his brow, was most rudely called to order by Brother Vincent, for he had chosen a most unpropitious moment for his little lecture. And then did Cutie have ants? Oh Cutie.

SUGAR DADDIES' SECRET OUT.

Our good friends Colvert and Latino were observed promenading about this fair city last Sunday evening with a couple of females from New Orleans. These two great big sugar daddies were pretty well determined to keep their little find a secret too, but after about three or four hours of persuasion the best we were able to get out of them was that they (the fair ones) were from Newcomb and residents of New Orleans. Tsk, Tsk, such is love, etc. But what good will that do Colvert? He lives in Nashville.

NEW TENNIS COURT.

Incidentally everyone seems sort of enthused over the new tennis courts now under construction in the yard near the iron fence. Four courts are to be built and there seems to be talk of a tennis team among next year's athletic endeavors. However, all the members of Thirty-Two wish they would hurry up and erect the courts that they might have a little fun on them. Anyway, it is supposed that they will be completed before June 5th.

ST. ALOYSIUS OF NEW ORLEANS COMING SUNDAY.

Next Sunday, May 15th, will see St. Aloysius of New Orleans sending their track team over to take on the Rock-A-Chaws. They will also bring over Daigle, who equalled Paddock's record for the hundred. The following Friday will be with McComb Hi, here, of the Big Eight.

GOPHERS TAKE OVER RAMBLERS IN SUNDAY'S GAME

Ray Kidd Pitches Well In Pinches.—Eight Straight Games for Gophers.

The Gophers took the Ramblers into camp last Sunday by virtue of a 6-1 score in their favor. Starting right in the first inning the Gophers collected 4 hits and counted 3 runs. Two errors in the fourth inning gave them 2 more runs and 5 hits in the final inning gave them their other 2. It was a hit-less-score-less game for Ray Kidd until 3 hits on the Rambler's part and 2 errors on the Gopher's part almost proved disastrous. The Ramblers however could not take advantage of the breaks and scored only one run.

Next Saturday the Gophers may take on the Gulfport Battling Ramblers if the latter can be reached. The game will be played at the Stanislaus Stadium at 3 o'clock.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

MAY QUEEN FESTIVAL SUNDAY, MAY 15TH.

Everyone is a-flutter over the coming May Festival and the all-engrossing questions of the moment are—Who is going to be the May Queen? Are you going to be a Maid of the Court? And, still more important, "Who's going to be your Duke?"

The answer to the first question will be answered Thursday afternoon at three o'clock when the P. T. A. of St. Joseph Academy will meet to count the votes which are to decide who will reign over the May Festival. The answer to the other two questions you can find out for yourselves by coming to the S. J. A. Gym, Sunday evening to witness the Grand March of the Queen and her Retinue. The Harding Band will provide the music for the occasion and a lovely program is being prepared for the entertainment of her Majesty, the Queen of May. We have been hearing exciting rumors of a May Pole Dance and of several other interesting individual song and dance numbers which will be staged at the S. J. A. Gym next Sunday.

The P. T. A. is in charge of the booths which will furnish refreshments of all kinds. The Festival will begin at four o'clock Sunday afternoon.

JUNIORS SCORE IN "WHAT HAPPENED TO HELEN."

The Junior play, "What Happened To Helen" which was presented last Thursday, May 5th, was more than successful if we may judge by the current opinions and the box receipts. More than $22 was realized and the whole amount with the exception of $5 which was given toward the Gym Fund was put in the class treasury.

S. J. A. STUDENT BODY OBSERVES MARY'S DAY.

It is fitting that the Catholic Alumnae of the United States should have started a movement for the general observance of a day known as "Mary's Day" on which we are to pay homage to our Heavenly Mother. It seems fitting also that the day which they have chosen should precede "Mother's Day" the day which we have dedicated to our earthly mothers.

The student body of S. J. A. observed Mary's Day by a general communion at the seven o'clock mass Saturday. Several hymns to Mary were sung during the mass. The children of Mary and the St. Agnes Sodality were represented in large numbers.

ST. AGNES SODALITY HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC.

These days seem to have been made for picnics, so the St. Agnes Sodality took advantage of the glorious weather last Wednesday, May 4, to increase their much needed supply of vitamin D. Their annual picnic was held at Henderson Point, and the whole day spent in swimming or frolicking or perhaps just lounging under the beaming rays of the sun. Everyone returned with a contented feeling and a fashionable coat of tan.

RECREATION PARK PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR HENDERSON PT.

Park Space and General Beautification For East Shore of Bay of St. Louis Waters

Pass Christian, Miss., May 10.—J. D. Tschopik of this city has completed arrangements for a recreational park on land lying south of the Old Spanish Trail, east of the line of the Bay of St. Louis, and north of the Pass Christian canal in Henderson Point. Considerable money will be spent in beautifying the grounds and in the construction of sheds and stands. The beach along the Bay of St. Louis will be provided with conveniences to allow visitors to enjoy bathing. At present there is no such recreation park for visitors along the Mississippi coast in this section.

And Then There Was A Scotchman.

Whether a Jew Can be outwitted by a Scot's still a matter for debate. Nevertheless, somebody cheated Chicago Jews out of $32,000 during the Passover, so city sealer Joe Grein declares.

"Five pound packages of matzos were found to be a half pound short in weight," Grein says, "and the one pound package lacked several ounces."

The city sealer estimates the shortage amounted to 30,000 pounds daily. No scotchmen have been arrested, as yet.

Come On, Seven!

You've heard of Mason Chapman before. His losing streak at dice continues. And so he must spend another six months in jail.

That's what Judge Daniel Trude decided when Mrs. Bessie Chapman 5307 Kenmore avenue Chicago, proved that every time Chapman got money from his wealthy father to pay her alimony, he would lose it at dice.

So after a few week's freedom, Mason goes back to his old row. Things are looking up there again, for the boys with a little loose change in their jeans. Like Al Capone, Chapman seems always to lose.

COMMENT ON SPORTS BY SHERIDAN

Baseball Outlook International Clashes Boston Braves Good Closer Races Likely Mickey Walker Wins Big Bout Postponed Davis Cup Play.

As the western clubs of the American League began their invasion of the east one or two facts were apparent. In the east Walter Johnson's Senators had demonstrated an early season mastery of both the Athletics and the Yankees although Mack's men were beginning to look more like themselves as Grove and Earnshaw came through with well pitched assignments. Boston, with only two games won, had been the doormat for the other aggregations.

Among the western clubs of the American League the going was a little tighter, with Detroit and Cleveland showing marked superiority over St. Louis and Chicago. The Indians, particularly, were going strong and the White Sox were not ably on the toboggan. The Tigers maintained a strong game, indicating that even in the American League it might not be a walkover for either of the admittedly strong teams of the east.

In the older circuit one finds the Boston Braves demonstrating to an astonished world that they could take the measure of the Giants, Phillies, Dodgers, with hardly a pause in the winning habit. The New York Giants closed a disastrous battle with its eastern allies, making the poorest showing of any of the eastern clubs.

The western clubs of the National League witnessed the strength of the Chicago Cubs and the rising tide of the Cardinals, who seemed, as the series ended, to be going somewhere. The Pirates seemed unable to stop the foe and Cincinnati was not quite able to break even.

Both leagues appear to have a better balanced opposition in the east and west, but you never can tell. In about another week, after the smoke of the gunfire dies down, we will be able to tell just about how the clubs are lined up. What Cleveland did in the west means nothing as far as shelling the Senators. Athletics and Yankees are concerned, and what Boston did to the easterners might mean a minus sign when the Braves hit the Cubs, Cardinals and the Reds on their home grounds.

Mickey Walker having won the fight with King Levinsky, coming back gamely after a knockdown in the first round, hears himself mentioned as a possible opponent for Jack Dempsey. In fact, there are also rumors that the King will fight the Manassa Mauler. The Walker-Dempsey fracas would bring Jack Kearns face to face with his old champion, but this time he would be pulling for Mickey to come through.

The championship clash between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling will take place it is thought, on June 21 instead of June 14, as planned. The bout would otherwise conflict with the Republican national convention in Chicago and the boys with their eyes on the customers at the gate are not anxious to have any such major conflicting interest at the time of the bout. Both fighters, of course, are confident, and the fight may be close, but as far as this artist of the pencil can dope it out, the German ought to retain his crown unless he has gone back a lot from the night he took the measure of Stribling at Cleveland.

You might think that the House of Representatives had its hands full, but not so. It took time off the other day to unanimously pass a resolution that the Army and Navy play a football game at the national capital this fall during the George Washington bicentennial. If you ask us, we predict that the service clash will come again this fall, but whether at Washington, or not, is a matter entitled to further consideration and, at least, a later guess.

The same four players who successfully won the opening tie against Canada will represent this country against the tennis team of Mexico at New Orleans on May 13, 14 and 15th. Vines, Shields, Van Ryn and Allison compose the men who the Mexicans will have to beat. The outcome is generally regarded as a certainty, although the Mexicans will present one of their best teams.

Whether Allison or Shields will get the No. 2 post as the singles player remains uncertain, with the chance that Shields will get the call, inasmuch as Allison will play in the doubles. Not that Allison is off his game. He is playing superbly and seems to be in his best form. Shields, however, is rounding into better condition and in recent matches seemed to be ready to go. If the opposition were more dangerous, Allison would probably get the call.

On the same date that the Mexican team tackles the U. S. stars

Australia and Cuba will meet at Havana, with the winners going into the finals at Philadelphia on May 27th.

Men and women who labored to establish the early colleges in the United States would probably be amazed to learn, if they can, of the new $4,000,000 gymnasium that will be ready for the Yale athletes this fall. The old building, center of athletics at the university for the past forty years, is being torn down. And, speaking of the early founders of colleges, there are a lot of small institutions of learning that would like to have just a part of that four million as an endowment.

So Now We Vegetate.

J. Dewey Lutes, no less a personage than president of the Illinois Hospital Association, opines that people will live longer than if money were more plentiful.

He reasons that if there's no rich food, no one eats rich food. If there's no money to be spent on pleasures, people spend none, and consequently sleep longer and live more regularly.

Dr. Lutes did not go on, however, to prove that the life of a vegetable is preferable to that of a human being.

HOUSE APPROVES BILL ALLOWANCE VETERANS' WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

$20 Per Month to Widows of Men Who Served World War
And $6.00 Per Month to Each Child Under 16 Years
Of Age—Pass Christian Visitor.

By Representative Robert S. Hall.

CAPITOL HILL, May 9.—Measures for stabilizing the purchasing power of the dollar, granting allowances to widows and orphans of World War veterans, effecting economies in the National Government and operating Muscle Shoals were approved by the House last week.

AN IMPORTANT MEASURE.

The bill for restoring and maintaining the purchasing power of the dollar is regarded as one of the most important measures thus far enacted at the present session. It is designed to boost the general commodity price level to the average existing between 1921 and 1929. Roughly, $1 will buy about $1.75 more of general commodities than in the above period. With respect to farm commodities the disparity is even greater—a ratio of 4 or 5 to 1 as in the case of wheat and cotton. Obviously, farmers who contracted debts when commodity prices were much higher than now simply cannot pay them, and those engaging in other industries are in the same boat. As a consequence, there can be no marked improvement in business or unemployment until the 1921-1929 commodity price level is restored.

FEDERAL RESERVE CAN REMEDY SITUATION.

It is the judgment of many economists and financial experts that the Federal reserve system could remedy the present situation by increasing the volume of currency and credit, and that this could be done without lowering the prerequisite 40 per cent gold reserve. Conversely, the volume of currency and credit could be restricted through retirement of Federal reserve notes. This measure bestows upon the Federal reserve system legislative authority for restoring the commodity price level of 1921-1929 as well as to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar, so as to prevent periodic recurrence of violent economic disruptions.

WIDOWS AND ORPHAN PENSION BILL.

The widows and orphans' pension bill, introduced by Congressman Rankin, grants a monthly allowance of $20 to widows of veterans who served at least 90 days during the period of the World War and $6 a month to each child under 16. It allows one orphan a monthly pension of $20 and $6 a month for each additional orphan in a family, providing they are under 16 and have a net income of $400 a year or less. Neither is a widow without children whose annual net income exceeds $250 nor one with children whose annual net income exceeds $400 eligible for a pension. While administration of this law will cost some money, it is only fair and just for the government to help take care of the dependent widows and orphans of its former soldiers. Moreover, as the widows and orphans of veterans that have died from disabilities incurred in the service are eligible for pensions under the present law, this amendment will place all widows and orphans of World War veterans on an equal footing.

MUSCLE SHOALS AGAIN.

The Muscle Shoals Bill, introduced by Congressman Hill of Alabama, authorizes the creation of a board to lease the plant to a private corporation. In case the board is unable to negotiate a lease within 18 months, it is empowered to operate the plant on behalf of the government. Under either plan it would be operated primarily for the benefit of agriculture; that is, in the manufacture of fertilizers which could be sold to farmers for about one-third of present prices, according to conservative estimates. As it now costs the government about $80,000 a year to maintain the power and fertilizer plants in a virtually inoperative state, they surely could be made self-sustaining under either private or government operation. Not only would that greatly relieve the farmers, but provide employment for a great number of workers and pave the way for commercial development of a large section of the South.

THE ECONOMY BILL.

After having encountered rough sledding, the 1932 economy bill, curtailing government expenditures about 40 millions of dollars, was approved by the House. Authorization of an 11 per cent reduction in Federal salaries above an exemption of $2,500 was sustained by a record vote. Other economies were effected through the reorganization and unification of various bureaus.

PASS CHRISTIAN VISITOR.

Mr. W. D. Robinson, now of Pass Christian, paid me a cordial visit last week while visiting his children, who are valuable citizens of the District of Columbia. For a long time Mr. Robinson was associate editor of the Times-Picayune, New Orleans, and he is now contributing to various magazines.

"RADIO RACKET" EXPOSED IN "ARE YOU LISTENING?"

Activities of Broadcasting Station Background for Unusual Drama Opening.

Activities of a national radio broadcasting station form the background for the engrossing story told in "Are You Listening?" which will be shown at the A. & G. Theatre, this Sunday and Monday, May 15-16. The picture is based on the widely-read J. P. McEvoy story of radio entertainment and delves into the less familiar "behind-the-scenes" aspects of the "radio racket." The machinations of "yellow journalism" and the modern use of radio in the pursuit of criminals are also bound up in the stirring plot which concerns the momentous events which befell a radio continuity writer who is accused of the murder of his henpecking wife.

Tragedy vs. Comedy.

The picture is said to be unusual in combining the diverse elements of tragedy, romance and comedy, most of the film's lighter moments taking place in the broadcasting station where such tricks of the trade as the "applause machine," "thunder chute" and "wind whistle" are amusingly exposed. The romantic side of the story is three-fold, concerning a trio of small-town girls who come to New York to see life but find that the glamorous city has its share of pitfalls.

Additional interest is attached to this picture in that it introduces William Haines in his first straight dramatic role, giving the popular young actor a chance to prove characterization, devoid of the wisecracking proclivities of his past vehicles. The unusually strong cast also includes such well-known film names as Madge Evans, last seen in "Lovers Courageous"; Anita Page considered the ideal personification of the modern American girl; Karen Morley, who came to this picture direct from her work opposite the Barrymores in "Arsene Lupin"; Neil Hamilton of "Strangers May Kiss"; fame; Wallace Ford, Jean Hersholt, Joan Marsh, John Miljan, Murray Kinnell and Ethel Griffies.

The picture was directed by Harry Beaumont who achieved a reputation for dramas of the modern age theme with "Our Blushing Brides" and "Dance, Fools, Dance."

Heartless Landlord.

Up to the last week the warden of the Illinois penitentiary had not resorted to eviction to rid his institution of undesirable tenants. Now he has joined the ranks of hard-hearted landlords.

The guest in his story was McKee Marshall, former Chicago and New York broker, convicted of embezzlement and sentenced in 1925. Last week his time was up. But he refused to change from his prison clothes until compelled.

"I think there's somebody outside waiting to grab me again," he explained.

Marshall was right. Upon his being forced outside the penitentiary he was arrested on a Detroit warrant in connection with a $150,000 suit.

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night."

My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. E. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

SENATOR PAT HARRISON FAVORS REFORESTATION

States Few Questions Could Be of Greater Importance
To People of South
Mississippi.

No one questions the loyalty of Senator Pat Harrison to the best interests of South Mississippi. The Senator has furnished District Forester Kimball with the following statement of his views on forest protection.

"Few questions should be of greater importance to the people of South Mississippi than Reforestation. We have thousands of acres unfit for agriculture, but admirably adapted to reforestation. Because of our soil and climatic conditions, certain grades of pine grow faster in our section than in other sections of the country. In New England and the North it takes 60 years for trees to grow to the size necessary to be used for wood pulp purposes. In the Northwest it takes a long period, but in the South—and especially in South Mississippi—these trees grow and mature at such a rapid rate that they can be used for wood pulp purposes in 15 to 25 years. This fact alone is reason enough why Mississippi and her citizenship should encourage reforestation in every rational way. It is but a question of time when the paper manufacturers of other sections will appreciate the advantages offered by our section in the economic production of timber and will in large numbers locate here. Many paper factories have already located in the South and in our State.

Fire prevention, or fire control, is a most important factor in any successful reforestation plan. Mississippi has already made great progress in this work, but the Forest Service needs the cooperation of the people everywhere in preventing and controlling fires. The destruction and decreased values resulting from fires should be brought to the attention of all the citizenship, and especially to the children in the school rooms. The occurrence of a forest fire would then be made impossible because of an aroused opposition upon the part of the people, and a universal sentiment toward the encouragement and preservation of our growing forests."

Deaths

MRS. CHAS. SANGER
PASSED AWAY AT HER
HOME LAST FRIDAY

Had Been a Resident of Bay
St. Louis Fifty-Four Years
—Interment Saturday
Last.

Mrs. Lucy W. Sanger, wife of Charles Sanger, well-known local resident, died at the family home in Citizen street on Thursday night of last week at 11:55 o'clock, a native of Pass Christian, aged 76 years.

Mrs. Sanger was a native of Pass Christian and was a daughter of the late Edward Jebens and Augusta Osterman, both natives of Germany. Married to Charles Sanger 54 years ago she has been a resident of this city ever since.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Sanger is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Augusta Sanger Perre, widow of Robert Perre and a granddaughter, Mrs. Louis Banderet. Two sisters also survive, Mrs. Margaret Sener, of Pass Christian and Mrs. Chas. Doerrie of New Orleans. A son, Frank Sanger, also survives.

Mrs. Sanger had been a victim of rheumatism for years and advancing years and a culmination of general ailments resulted in her death last week which was pronounced as directly due to a heart attack.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the fact that it was largely attended was a manifestation of the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community in which she had resided so long and shared in its joy and various vicissitudes.

Rev. Robert E. Grubb, rector Christ Episcopal church, officiated at the funeral and interment was at Cedar Rest cemetery, the last resting place marked with a wealth of flowers in sympathy to the family and in tribute to the memory of the good woman who had lived a long and useful life.

Mrs. Sanger was essentially a home woman. She lived for her family and those that surrounded her in her daily life. She was a woman of many fine traits of character and her many good deeds and extensive charities were of the most exemplary order.

In her passing away the community has lost one of its best known and beloved citizens. The family have the sympathy of many friends both here and from away. The great consolation is that she had lived a long and useful life; she had made others happy and surely a rich reward awaited her.

MRS. LOUISE CARVER
CLAIMED BY DEATH
EARLY SAT. LAST

Mother of Former City
Councilman Laid To Rest
Saturday Afternoon at Cedar Rest.

Death claimed Mrs. Louise Carver, widow of Thomas Carver last Saturday morning at 3:05 o'clock, following an illness of long duration. She resided in St. Charles street, from which place the funeral took place last Saturday afternoon, 4 o'clock with interment at Cedar Rest Cemetery, Rev. Father Quinn, church Our Lady of the Gulf officiating.

The deceased is survived by four sons, former councilman, P. T. Carver, Andrew Carver, B. Carver and Francis Carver, also a daughter, Mrs. Pete Latour. Warren Carver, deputy in the clerk's office at the courthouse, is a grandson.

Mrs. Carver was well known for herself, her late husband's popularity and for her immediate family. The funeral was largely attended and a profusion of flowers gave evidence of love and sympathy. She was widely known over the city and county and the news of her passing away brought general regret.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

The kind of shortcakes, like mother used to make, is still served at the smartest tables. This type is made like pie pastry. If you are going in for the modern touch then your shortcake must be a light sponge cake on a delicate white cake.

When shortcakes are mentioned, strawberry shortcake comes to our minds first; but there are many other kinds, such as peach, apricot, blackberry, banana, etc. They can be served the year round.

Shortcake No. 1.

3 cups flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/3 cups shortening, ice cold water to mix.

Sift the flour and salt into a bowl, chop the shortening with a knife, until well mixed with flour. Add water to form a dough, cutting and mixing the paste thoroughly. Flour a board and roll the paste out very thin. Fit into pie plates, brush with melted butter. Bake in a quick oven, 425 degrees, for 15 minutes. Fill one shortcake with fruit and whipped cream, cover with inverted pie crust. Cover with whipped cream and garnish with fruit used.

Shortcake No. 2.

2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sifted sugar, 3/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3 egg whites.

Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder and sift three times. Cream shortening, add the sugar gradually; cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites stiff; fold into mixture. Bake in 2 greased cake pans in a moderate oven. Lay fruit and whipped cream and fruit. Serve in wedged shaped pieces.

Shortcake No. 3.

2 egg yolks, 5 tablespoons cold water, 7/8 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 1/3 cup cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 egg whites.

Beat the egg yolks with a rotary beater. Add water and then the sugar gradually and continue beating. Add lemon juice. Sift flour and measure. Then add baking powder and salt. Sift again. Add gradually to first mixture. Fold in the egg whites, beaten very light. Pour into greased spring form pan with raised bottom inset. Bake in a moderate oven. When cold, cut cake away from sides with a spatula. Fill cavity in cake with fruit and whipped cream.

Successful shortcakes depend on the fillings and toppings. Fresh fruit should be well sugared, and allowed to stand a while before using. Canned fruits should have the juice drained off, thicken it and serve as a sauce.

Attention, Mr. Schwab!

There may be no rich people left, but jewelry and money amounting to $30,000 were given at a recent meeting in Bahai temple in Wilmette, Ill.

The offerings resulted from the appeals by Dr. Zai Bagdadi of Wilmette and Mrs. May Maxwell of Montreal. They explained that unfinished work on the temple dome required $30,000.

The 155 worshippers present responded. Some took rings from their fingers and placed them on a table. Mrs. Agnes Parsons of Washington, D. C., uncloaked a necklace valued at several thousand dollars from her neck. Dr. Bagdadi gave a rare Persian coin.

The Bahalists are an Oriental religious cult. Its membership includes many of the wealthy men and women of the larger cities.

Fire Department. In a few months he would have been in the department 40 years. He joined the department in the old volunteer times and was a member of Company No. 20.

He was buried with high requiem Mass ceremony in St. Mary's Assumption church at New Orleans, his two grandchildren, William and Thomas Gordon from Bay St. Louis served the Mass.

The funeral services were very impressive. Just before the casket was closed a squad of firemen stood at attention a few moments then lead the funeral as it passed the engine house on its way to the cemetery, the crew at the engine house stood at attention and taps were sounded.

Mrs. Gordon has many friends who sympathize with her in the bereavement which she has been called upon to sustain.

FOR A PURPOSE

THERE are so many things for which you can save if you feel that you must save for a purpose other than independence in the future; a home, an automobile, travel, education, new furniture, clothes, in fact saving will get you all the things that make life worth living. When you have a goal to save for it makes it worth saving. Select your pet ambition and save now for its realization.

Baltimore Votes To End Blue Law After Long Fight

Baltimore can go to its moving picture shows, buy a loaf of bread or go to a baseball game legally next Sunday for the first time in history.

By the most overwhelming vote ever registered on a question, the voters repealed the state's 200-year-old blue laws, insofar as they applied to the city, in a special election which overshadowed the presidential primary between President Hoover and former Senator Joseph I. France.

Baltimoreans cast 142,000 votes on the question, and passed the repeal by a majority of 83,990, while the entire state put but 41,000 ballots into the boxes on the presidential question.

The repeal became effective upon passage of the referendum, which was authorized by the last session of the legislature after a 25-year battle by the city to gain the right to decide its Sabbath observance independent of the more conservative county elements.

Always Baltimore met defeat in the legislature halls, being outvoted by the counties, although the city has one half the population of the state. At the 1931 session, however, city delegates succeeded in gaining the right to vote on the question in the most bitter fight of the entire meeting.
